SOLID WOOD VENEER

WALNUT

Happiness is less about which side of the bed you wake up on than the kitchen atmosphere you walk into. So choose your cabinets wisely and give yourself plenty of room- to think, to cook, to catch up, to stop and smell the Arabica beans.

MELAMINE PANEL

This kitchen has a warm atmosphere and develops a concept in harmony with the space, where functionality and aesthetics go hand in hand.

LACQUERED FINISH

There are many reasons that white is the right choice when it comes to kitchen cabinets. White kitchen cabinets provide room-brightening backdrops that complement an array of colors, patterns, textures, surfaces, and decorating styles.

No matter the cabinet's style, one design principle holds true when designing a work space around white kitchen cabinets: Experts recommend introducing a few standout accent hues and varying the shades of white that appear on cabinets, woodwork, and countertops to promote warmth and further visual interest.

SOLID WOOD

Inset doors and drawers with raised panels and beaded frames emphasize the architectural character of traditional style with a treatment that resembles library paneling. Warm cherry in a medium to dark finish is the wood of choice for traditional kitchen cabinetry. Deep crown molding calls attention to the height of the room and provides a graceful transition from the cabinetry to the ceiling.

LACQUERED FINISH

烤漆橱柜

Glazing and distressing say "traditional," while a high-gloss finish says "modern." The reflective surface of glossy white kitchen cabinets will bounce light around the room and make the space feel bigger and lighter.

PLASTIC LAMINATED

PVC

Imbue your kitchen with instant warmth -- especially if it lacks windows or faces north -- by coating your cabinets in buttery yellow. It's a hue that blends effortlessly with quartz countertops. Touches of white freshen the look.
